Program Cost Information

Undergraduate Day Program

International Programs and Services (IPS)

Direct and Indirect Education & Living Expenses for 2024-2025

The direct and indirect education and living expenses listed below are reported to U.S. government agencies and are estimates for living and studying in the U.S. at Lynn University, Boca Raton, Florida.

Proof of financial responsibility for the student must be shown before a Form I-20 can be issued by the International Programs and Services Office. It is also needed for the F-1 visa interview at the U.S. Embassy or Consulate in your country.

Direct: Tuition & Fees Tuition $42,730 Student Service Fees $1,750	$44,480
Direct: Room & Board	$14,330
Direct: Health Insurance	$2,150
Indirect: Living Expenses (air travel, local travel, daily miscellaneous, recreation, clothing, toiletries)	$5,470
Total Direct and Indirect Expenses	$66,430
Calculate in your scholarship
EXAMPLE: Merit Scholarship (minimum $7,000)	- $7,000
Total funding to show for immigration	$59,430

- All expenses are in U.S. Dollars for one academic year (9 months) of full-time enrollment.
- Full time enrollment is a requirement of F-1 immigration status.

Calculate your funding

Anticipated Expenses
Total Direct and Indirect Expenses	$66,430
Subtract Your Lynn Scholarship
Amount of funding to Show:

LYNN UNIVERSITY

Frequently Asked Questions

Why do I have to show proof of financial support?

- Schools are required to meet certain conditions before a Form I-20 may be issued.
  - Proof that the prospective F-1 student has the financial resources.
  - Student can afford to live and study in the U.S. and at Lynn University.
  - Student needs to show that there is enough financial resources to pay for direct expenses, (tuition, room and board, student service fees, health insurance) and indirect living expenses (local transportation, air travel home for the holidays, daily miscellaneous, clothing, toiletries).

What about my scholarship? How does it affect my direct and indirect expenses?

- You will subtract your scholarship from the total direct and indirect expenses.
  - This dollar amount will be the funding that needs to be shown in a bank statement, bank savings account or through your government sponsor or financial sponsor.

Can I change the amount of money I have to show based on my personal arrangements?

- No. The reason why the amount of money may not be changed is that the total direct and indirect education and living expenses are reported to U.S. government agencies.
  - If you have a U.S. citizen as a sponsor who is providing funding or benefits such as housing, they can provide specific documentation that can count toward the indirect living expenses listed above.

Are the direct or indirect education and living expenses deducted from my bank account when I provide my bank statement?

- No. No money is deducted from your bank account during the Form I-20 review.
  - The financial documentation provided demonstrates that you have the financial resources needed to ensure that you can afford to live and study in the U.S. and at Lynn University.

Do I have to purchase the Lynn University Health Insurance plan? My personal plan is less expensive.

- All international students are automatically enrolled in the university health insurance plan (included in the direct living expenses).
  - Students who have health insurance through a government sponsorship are eligible for a waiver.
  - Given the complexities and costs of the U.S. health care system, our U.S. based health insurance plan is more widely accepted than international insurance plans.